FIRE EXTINGUISHERS

There are a number of common varieties of fire extinguisher, each designed to fight one or more of the classes of fire that occur with different materials. A fire risk assessment should specify which class of fire poses the highest risk in each area of your building and we provide the most appropriate fire extinguisher for the job.

At Churches Fire & Security, we provide you with the highest quality fire extinguishers, ensuring that they are serviced and in full working order so that you can be legally compliant. We provide you with the correct solutions for your building, materials and contents, and train your staff in how to operate the devices safely and effectively.

SURVEY, SUPPLY, COMMISSION AND INSTALLATION

The Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005 states that fire extinguishers are a requirement in all buildings. At least two extinguishers with a Class A fire rating should be clearly visible and accessible on each floor at all times. With Churches Fire & Security, you can be certain of full legal compliance.

We work with you to provide tailor-made fire safety services, ensuring that you have the right type of fire extinguishers in the right locations. Whether you require water, CO₂, foam, powder or wet chemical extinguishers, we provide industry-standard products of all types relating to the surrounding materials and the specific fire risks in your premises. This can give peace of mind that you are protected from fire in any eventuality.

Our friendly, customer-focused technicians are on hand to advise and explain which types of fire extinguishers should be used on each class of fire.

SERVICE AND MAINTENANCE

At Churches Fire & Security, full compliance is one of our top priorities. In order to meet current standards, we provide an annual service of all fire extinguishers. We want you to be certain that your fire equipment is not only high quality and tailored for your exact situation, but also fully-serviced and ready to be used in an emergency.

We strongly encourage customers to carry out monthly checks themselves and report any problems to us. This helps to keep you safe and saves you money by ensuring that the equipment is in good condition for longer.

We pride ourselves on our third-party accreditations and commitment to compliance. All Churches Fire & Security technicians are put through the BAFe registration scheme, giving customers reassurance on the quality of our services. All fire extinguishers supplied by us are EN3 approved and bear the British Standard Kitemark.
